Introduction to Islam

Fall 2020 (August 24-December 18, 2020)
INSTRUCTOR: MOHAMMAD KHALIL | KHALILMO@MSU.EDU

dısc Digital Islamic Studies Curriculum
digitalislam.umich.edu

TUESDAY & THURSDAY 3:05PM-4:20PM EASTERN

"Introduction to Islam" aims to provide students with a working knowledge of the religion and civilization of Islam. In addition to identifying the core beliefs, practices, scriptures, and sentiments that have defined Muslim communities, it examines the issues that have formed the focal point of ongoing debate and disagreement in the history of Islamic thought.

"Introduction to Islam" is taught by Michigan State Prof. Mohammad Khalil, an expert on Islamic thought, and is shared via synchronous videoconferencing with Pennsylvania State University as part of the Digital Islamic Studies Curriculum. Students enroll at their home institution for course credit. Visit bit.ly/38A85Ea for campus-specific course registration information.

Offered jointly by:

PennState

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

For more information, contact:

EVAN MURPHY
DISC Program Coordinator
digital.islam@umich.edu

This course is offered as part of the Digital Islamic Studies Curriculum, with sponsorship from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation