Final Reflection

For your final component of English 125, you will reflect on the process and outcome of your work. 10% of final grade

Why?
We, as a class, have discussed the significance of personal experience, research, the rhetorical situation, and how all of these concepts are important and connected within a global community. I want to get a sense of how these projects worked for you.

Consider the following questions/ideas:
What discoveries were made?
The good, the bad, the ugly
If you were to explain this class to someone unfamiliar with English 125, what would you say in a nutshell? Did the projects hold any significance for you in the learning process—would it for others?

Format:
1-2 pages (typed)
12 pt. font
Double Spaced

When reading your assignment, I will look for:
A thoughtful response to your class experience (so consider the class as the whole) your explanation of any discoveries and the progress you have made in your writing and research
Your thoughts on how what you have learned in this class will help you in the future (with other classes, a new career, etc.)
Am I following the Evaluation Criteria provided to me?

Due: Tuesday, April 22 (hardcopy, in class)

“Do you ever wonder if the guy in the puddle is real, and you’re just a reflection of him?” –Calvin and Hobbes