The DISC Summer Research Institute (DSRI) is a 7 day fully funded academic program hosted on the University of Michigan's campus that offers undergraduate students at the Big Ten Academic Alliance (BTAA) a unique opportunity to develop and advance their knowledge and research skills in the field of Islamic Studies through seminars, workshops, hands-on coaching, and mentorships from accomplished scholars, while having the opportunity to engage in the distinctive cultural experience Southeast Michigan has to offer.

ALL MAJORS WELCOMED
The program offers two tracks to accommodate students’ academic training level.

Gateway Track Participants will:
- Learn approaches, issues, and research methodologies in the field of Islamic Studies
- Develop a research prospectus
- Gain the tools to be competitive in the graduate school application process

Capstone Track Participants will:
- Advance their knowledge with research methodologies and managing projects
- Access special collections and material, systems, and tools to further their research
- Receive individualized mentorship on their research, thesis, or career path

Applications available January 2023
For more details, visit: digitalislam.umich.edu/dsri
About the Program:

The DISC Summer Research Institute (DSRI) offers undergraduate students at the Big Ten Academic Alliance (BTAA) a unique opportunity to develop and advance their knowledge and research skills in the field of Islamic Studies.

When?
Sun, June 4th - Sat, June 10th

Where?
University of Michigan

Who?
Undergraduate students of all majors at the Big Ten Academic Alliance institutions

Cost?
DSRI is a fully funded program. There is no cost for participants admitted into the program.

Mission:

- Engage critically with some of the major theories and approaches in the field of Islamic Studies
- Be able to access the resources available to pursue advanced research and graduate study in the field of Islamic Studies
- Develop an in-depth understanding of the diversity of Islam in the United States

Applications available January 2023
For more details, visit: digitalislam.umich.edu/dsri

The DSRI is made possible through the generous support of The Mellon Foundation.
The DISC Summer Research Institute (DSRI) is a 7 day research intensive offering college students at the Big Ten Academic Alliance (BTAA) a unique opportunity to develop and hone research skills through workshops and hand-on coaching, network and receive mentorship from accomplished scholars, and engage in the distinctive cultural experience Southeast Michigan offers.

Gateway Participants will:
- Learn approaches, issues, and research methodologies in the field of Islamic Studies
- Develop a research prospectus
- Gain the tools to be competitive in the graduate school application process

Capstone Participants will:
- Advance their knowledge with research methodologies and managing projects
- Access special collections and material, systems, and tools to further their research
- Receive individualized mentorship on their research, thesis, or career-path

For more details, visit: digitalislam.umich.edu/dsri

The DSRI is made possible through the generous support of The Mellon Foundation.