

Global Feminisms Project Pronunciation Guide

Nicaragua Interviewee Names

Contributor: Eimeel Castillo

Naming conventions: Naming practices were standardized in most Spanish-speaking countries in the late nineteenth century. While legislation varied, Spain and many other nations mandated placement of the patronymic surname first, followed by the matronymic.

At the start of the twenty-first century, feminist influence has led many nations to pass legislation allowing parents to choose the order of patronymic and matronymic surnames.

The penultimate surname is used for bibliographical and archival cataloging. When abbreviating, the final surname is often dropped.

Interviewee	Pronunciation
Mónica Baltodano	MŌ-ni-cä bal-tō-DŌ-nō
Bertha Inés Cabrales	BER-tä ē-NES cä-BRÄ-les
Violeta Delgado	vē-ō-LE-tä del-GÄ-dō
Juanita Jiménez	huä-NĒ-tä hē-MĒ-nes
Matilde Lindo	ma-TIL-dā LĒN-dō
Diana Martinez	dē-Ä-nä mär-TĒ-nez
Yamileth Mejía	ya-MĒ-let mā-HĒ-ä
Sofía Montenegro	sō-FĒ-ä mōn-tā-NE-grō
Vilma Nuñez	VĒL-mä NOO-ñes
Sandra Ramos	SÄN-drä RÄ-mōs
Dora María Téllez	DŌ-rä mä-RĒ-ä TE-lyes
Martha Heriberta Valle	MÄR-tä e-rē-BER-tä BÄ-lye