Diversifying Academia

April 30 - May 3, 2018

Future Faculty Workshop at the University of Michigan

Develop Your Career

The NextProf Science 2018 Workshop will help you—a talented scholar with a demonstrated commitment to diversity—explore how to pursue exciting and rewarding careers in research universities.

If you are a postdoctoral fellow or an advanced graduate student ready for the next step in your career, consider this workshop.

Listen. Learn. Network.

At NextProf Science, you will learn how to:

- form a teaching & mentoring philosophy
- build a successful research program
- prepare for the faculty search process

Expand your network. Join colleagues and academic leaders from across the country. Share conversations with diverse faculty scientists and mathematicians.

“I think my favorite part was just being in a room with this diverse group of talented scientists ... a rare experience for me!” —2015 Participant

“I was blown away by this workshop. Lots of useful information I never would have gotten as a postdoc...” —2015 Participant
