

Future Faculty Workshop @ University of Michigan

May 6 - May 9, 2019

M | NextProf Science Diversifying Academia

“I was blown away by this workshop. Lots of useful information I never would have gotten as a postdoc...” —2015 Participant

Develop Your Career

The NextProf Science 2019 Workshop will help you—a talented scholar with a demonstrated commitment to diversity—explore how to pursue exciting and rewarding careers in research universities.

If you are a postdoctoral fellow or an advanced graduate student ready for the next step in your career, apply!

Listen. Learn. Network.

At NextProf Science, learn how to:

- form a teaching & mentoring philosophy
- build a successful research program
- prepare for the faculty search process

Expand your network. Join colleagues and academic leaders from across the country. Share conversations with diverse faculty scientists and mathematicians.

APPLY!

Online: <http://myumi.ch/6QxQg>

Deadline: February 3, 2019

Applicants must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents or undocumented students with Deferred Action for Childhood Arrival (DACA).

Underrepresented minorities and women especially encouraged to apply. Travel, lodging, and meals are covered for participants.

“I think my favorite part was just being in a room with this diverse group of talented scientists ... a rare experience for me!”
—2015 Participant

More info at: sites.lsa.umich.edu/nextprof-science/