There is a pairing of a set of reagents and a carbohydrate starting material (combined from different parts) that creates a regioselectivity dilemma. Which pairing is it (i.e., the carbohydrate from part (x) combined with the reagents from part (y))?